To say I’m excited that the time for the 2015 Regional Meetings is quickly approaching is an understatement. As those of you who have attended regional meetings in the past will attest, the meetings are much more than a day of educational workshops and sessions—they are a time to reunite with old friends, meet new ones, find new sources of support, and share our stories of successes and struggles. Simply put, regional meetings recharge our batteries and get us excited for another year of inviting guests through the doors of our historical organizations to share our rich Ohio history.

Besides the chance to network and learn new skills, the regional meetings are a great opportunity to visit museums and historic sites you may not have had the chance to visit before. This year we have another fantastic slate of host sites for the regional meetings ready to “put the coffee on” and invite us into their unique spaces. Consider this your Invitation to Innovation.

On April 11, the Hancock Historical Museum is ready to welcome us to Region 1. The museum is comprised of the Hull-Flater House, the Crawford Log House, a barn, and the offsite Little Red Schoolhouse and Riverside Train.

The Merry-Go-Round Museum welcomes us to Region 2 on April 18. Located in the historic Sandusky Post Office, the museum has a collection so rich that the White House requested they display four of their carousel horses in the East Room for Christmas.

The Region 3 meeting is hosted by the Bedford Historical Society and Museum—while the meeting will be in the 1892 Old Baptist Church, we’ll also be welcomed into the rest of their National Register listed properties.

The Trumbull County Historical Society rolls out the red carpet on April 18 for the Region 4 meeting. While we will meet in the Warren-Trumbull County Library, we will have the opportunity to visit the neighboring John Stark Edwards House and Museum, the Sutliff Museum, and the Upton House.

If you are ready to have your mind blown by the beauty of late 19th century architecture and interior design, don’t turn down the Massillon Heritage Foundation’s invitation to attend the Region 5 meeting on March 14 at the Five Oaks mansion in Massillon.

The Gahanna Historical Society hosts the Region 6 meeting on March 21 at the Olde Gahanna Sanctuary. The GHS also invites us to visit the neighboring historically rich Lily Stone Bed & Breakfast, John Clark house, and Log House.

President's Message:

For over two decades, I have been the beneficiary of educational opportunities provided at regional meetings and the annual conferences as I joined my fellow Ohio local historians at these gatherings. I have grown in knowledge as I have listened to my peers discussing issues that concern us all and experts in specialized areas providing their know-how. The Monday after each meeting and conference, I have walked back into my museum bubbling with enthusiasm, ready to put into practice new techniques and schedule new programming opportunities. I love that feeling of renewal!

Why mention this now? As we begin 2015, all of us are setting goals for ourselves and our organizations. We are looking for ways to create exceptional programming, increase our funding, use technology to reach new audiences…the list goes on. Please take advantage of the educational opportunities offered by the Ohio Local History Alliance through articles in The Local Historian; learning and networking opportunities at the regional meetings and the annual conference; and now a series of webinars – all provided to help us meet the common goal of preserving and sharing Ohio local history.

I am honored to begin serving as your president. Please help me and your Alliance board members as we try to create opportunities to help you and your organization. If you have an idea for an educational workshop or webinar that would assist you in meeting your goals, please do not hesitate to share your thoughts with your region’s representatives or any of the officers.

History lovers will once again have the opportunity to share their passion for Ohio history and preservation at the annual Statehood Day advocacy event at the Ohio Statehouse on Wednesday, March 4. You can register for the event online at www.ohiohistory.org/statehoodday.

The Statehood Day event brings together Ohio's history supporters and gives them the opportunity to meet with their state legislators and network with fellow history-related professionals and advocates. Attendees are encouraged to schedule a meeting with their state representative and/or state senator. Governor John R. Kasich has been invited to be the keynote speaker at the luncheon.

In addition to legislative advocacy, the Ohio History Connection will announce its 2015 History Fund grant awards, funded through income tax donations from Ohioans. Senator Frank LaRose (R-Akron) will be the recipient of the Ohio History Leadership Award, presented annually to a state legislator who has "gone above and beyond" in promoting Ohio history.

“Statehood Day has been such a rewarding experience for those who have participated in the past,” said Todd Kleismit, the Ohio History Connection’s director of community and government relations. “People from across Ohio who care about protecting and projecting state and local history come together to recognize the state’s birthday and share with state legislators why what we do is important.”

Registration for the event is $30 (for lunch) through Friday, February 27. To register and for more information, visit online at www.ohiohistory.org/statehoodday.

Statehood Day is sponsored by Ohio History Connection, Heritage Ohio, the Ohio Archaeological Council, the Ohio Local History Alliance, the Ohio Genealogical Society, the Ohio Historical Records Advisory Board, Preservation Ohio, the Ohio Travel Association, the Ohio Academy of History, the Ohio Council for Social Studies, the Capital Square Review and Advisory Board and the Society of Ohio Archivists.

While we all love historic museums, we also love new museums! On March 14, the Logan County Historical Society invites us to Region 7 and into their newly built, and fantastic, Logan County Transportation Museum.

On March 21 the Mason Historical Society invites us to Region 8. It’s a great year to be in Mason—the city and MHS are excited to celebrate Mason’s Bicentennial this year. The meeting will be held at the Historic Mason School on N East St, near their wonderful Alverta Green Museum.

In the beautiful hills of Southeast Ohio, the Meigs County Historical Society invites us to their museum in Region 9 on March 28. Organized in 1876, and a member of the Local History Alliance for decades, the MCHS certainly knows its business when it comes to Ohio history!

Right in the heart of Region 10, the Noble County Historical Society has invited us to their place on March 28. It’s hard to think of a better site to host this meeting than the 1832 Ball-Caldwell House and Barn!

Each meeting features exciting sessions on always timely topics. Sessions cover everything from grant-writing to entrepreneurial ways to earn revenue, from programming for school groups to attracting young professionals, from caring for old buildings to caring for old objects. You can find the complete details for each meeting in the brochure, coming through the mail, and available online at www.ohiohistory.org/local-history-office/professional-development/alliance-regional-meetings. Remember, you are not limited to attending just the meeting of the region you live or work in. You can attend any regional meeting that looks interesting, and you can certainly attend more than one.

To register for a regional meeting, complete and return the form attached to the brochure or register online at www.ohiohistory.org/register. Registration is $30 for Alliance members and $35 for non-members. Registration includes a continental breakfast and lunch. If you have any questions don't hesitate to call us here in the Local History Office of the Ohio History Connection at 1-800-858-6878.
Young Ohio Preservationists
Spring into Action Statewide

Young Ohio Preservationists (YOP) is an initiative of Heritage Ohio, the state’s official ‘Historic Preservation and Main Street’ organization. Heritage Ohio has been working hard to connect Young Ohio Preservationists to places across the state where a difference can be made. It all started when Heritage Ohio began hosting preliminary YOP focus groups in early 2014 to gauge what preservation related activities the 40 and under demographic wanted to engage in. After months of discussions, the Young Ohio Preservationists were able to create a nine-person board and start planning events for 2015. On December 5, the YOPs launched a successful inaugural event in Columbus’s German Village Historic District, which drew approximately 40 preservationists from around the state (some as far as Cleveland and Cincinnati!).

YOPs stand ready to offer their preservation services to help give back to the community: volunteer labor for small clean-up and rehab projects with the goal of giving just enough care to make a difference in preserving an historic resource. Vice president Rebecca Torsell commented, “The board is working hard to reach out to a variety of potential candidates to offer their volunteer services, including affordable housing markets, local historic districts, and individuals that need a hand to put preservation into practice. YOP hopes to create opportunities for members to take part in learning new skills through workshops and putting theory into practice during actual hands-on volunteer sessions.”

Young preservationists are involved in their communities and eager to make a difference through saving our historic spaces. These historic spaces not only connect members of the community to a sense of authenticity, but also present valuable economic opportunities to communities that need just that. Heritage Ohio has achieved remarkable buy-in from communities across the state, who have enthusiastically supported their Main Street program and gotten a great return on their investment. Similarly, YOP wants the state to organize and evaluate the roles played by younger preservationists, not only to enhance preservation-related opportunities, but also to influence and move the preservation field forward with out-of-the-box and cutting-edge solutions to the challenges faced by so many communities. It is the hope that YOP members can be the first point of contact through which a community can be changed with the services offered by the Young Ohio Preservationists.

Building upon the successful kickoff, YOP is setting out to challenge norms, inspire communities, and make a difference in Ohio. Strong believers in the Margaret Mead quote, “Never doubt that a small group of thoughtful, committed citizens can change the world; indeed, it’s the only thing that ever has,” the Young Ohio Preservationists aspire to be part of a committed change to improve preservation across Ohio. The organization’s members are young professionals involved in their own communities. Sarah Marsom, Historic Preservation Advocate for the German Village Society, is leading the group as its first president. She is excited for the coming year stating, “Throughout 2015, the board will build a strong foundation for the organization that will ensure its status as a resource for young professionals and communities, through the creation of workshops, networking events, and professional development opportunities. I believe the Young Ohio Preservationists group will prove to be another way Heritage Ohio makes a positive difference across the state.”

Do you want to keep up with the YOP or become a member? Email yop@heritageohio.org to be added to our mailing list. You can also find us on Facebook and Heritage Ohio’s website. Stay in-tune with our upcoming activities as we work hard to make a difference in Ohio’s communities.
Ohio Income Tax Check-Off = History Fund Grants:

Ohio IT-1040, Line 27c Means Grants for Local History

By Andy Verhoff, History Fund Grant Manager, Ohio History Connection, Columbus

Last year, the Ohio History Connection drafted Annie Oakley, General U.S. Grant, and the Wright Brothers to help increase donations to the tax check off for Ohio History on state income tax returns. The tax check off is the main source of support for the History Fund grant program, the only grant program in the state devoted exclusively to making grants for local history, historic preservation, and archeology projects.

Thanks to the generosity of Ohioans, and the hard work of Ms. Oakley, Gen. Grant, and the brothers Wright, contributions spiked. The tax check-off, found on Ohio tax return form IT-1040, Line 27c, “Ohio Historical Society” (or Line 20c on the EZ form) generated $165,000 as of the end of the 2014 fiscal year in June. By contrast, the check-off brought in just under $139,000 for all of 2013. From 2013 to 2014, the number of donors increased by almost 1,100 (from 16,003 to 17,085), as did the size of their average donations, from $8.69 to $9.68.

To keep the History Fund alive, the Ohio History Connection has to again raise $150,000 through the tax-check off. The tax check-off must generate a minimum of $150,000 in contributions per year to stay on the tax form. Failing to reach this minimum two years in a row means the check-off will be removed from Ohio’s income tax form and threaten the History Fund grant program. If each of the 17,000 donors who gave last year gives just $10 or $11 from their tax refund in 2015, we’d cross over the $150,000 threshold easily and have even more to grant.

To meet this threshold we need your help! We’re asking you to not only contribute to the tax check off yourself, but also to encourage you to tell history-loving family and friends about it, too. To help, the Connection has a media kit online at www.ohiohistory.org/make-historycampaign. Shannon Thomas, the Connection’s assistant director for marketing and communications, notes that “we created the materials for use by local history and preservation organizations. We would really appreciate it if members of the Alliance would reprint the articles and associated graphics in their newsletters and websites, and on Facebook and other social media.” “The videos are fun to post on social media and generate a lot of interest,” she adds.

In addition to the tax check-off, there are other ways to support the History Fund grant program. Available since April, the Ohio History license plate features Conway the Mastodon. Twenty dollars from the sale of each set of plates benefit the History Fund grant program. Applications for grants for 2015 are currently under review. Recipients will be publicly announced at the Statehood Day event, March 4, at the Ohio Statehouse (see article on page 3). The deadline for applications for 2016’s round of grants will be posted in June 2015 on the History Fund’s webpage: www.ohiohistory.org/historyfund. The webpage also includes information about eligible projects and applicants, grant amounts, and instructions for applying. Or, contact History Fund Grant Manager Andy Verhoff at 614-297-2341 or averhoff@ohiohistory.org. The tax check-off supports the History Fund. The History Fund supports you!
How the Tax “Check-Off” Works

Here’s how:

- Cut and copy the sample article and include it in your organization’s newsletter in February, March, and April (before the tax filing deadline of April 15).
- Contribute yourself, and tell friends and family and tax preparers about the Ohio History tax check-off and the History Fund. Just include the amount of your refund you want to donate on your 2014 Ohio income tax return, Form IT-1040, Line 27c or Form IT-1040EZ, Line 20c, “Ohio Historical Society.”
- Post the YouTube videos and other images at www.ohiohistory.org/makehistorycampaign on your website, Facebook, and other social media pages.

- Although we call it a “check-off,” on your tax form, you won’t find a box to check.
- Toward the end of your individual Ohio state income tax return, after you’ve calculated the amount of your refund (if you are receiving a refund), you’ll find a line that asks “Amount of line 00 that you wish to donate to the following funds.” (The line number will differ depending on which version of the Ohio state income tax return you’re using — hence we’ve used 00 to represent the line number here.)
- One of the four options is “Ohio Historical Society” (The tax form has not caught up with our recent name change to Ohio History Connection yet.)
- Under “Ohio Historical Society,” fill in the amount that you’d like to contribute. Last year’s average contribution was $9.68, so even a small donation can make a big difference.
- The amount you contribute to the Ohio History Connection through your Ohio state income tax return goes specifically to support the History Fund, which makes grants to support local history and preservation-related projects in communities throughout Ohio.

Make History with Your Tax Return!

Editor’s Note: Feel free to cut and paste this article and insert it in your organization’s newsletter. For other fun promotional materials, visit www.ohiohistory.org/makehistorycampaign.

It’s tax season again, and this is just a reminder that the voluntary tax “check-off” for the Ohio History Connection that you’ll find on your Ohio individual income tax return benefits history, pre-history and preservation-related organizations across the state. When you opt to donate a portion of your state income tax refund to the Ohio History Connection, it supports the History Fund, which makes grants to organizations for local history projects in communities throughout Ohio.

For 2014, the History Fund received $165,000 in donations from 17,000 Ohioans who contributed a portion of their state income tax refund. Most donations are small, averaging $9.70 in 2014, but the impact is big for those who receive History Fund grants. The matching grants are awarded on a competitive basis.

The tax check-off benefiting the History Fund first appeared on state income tax forms in 2012. The first History Fund grants were awarded in 2013 for a variety of history- and preservation-related projects. Learn more about the recipients of grants in 2013 and 2014 and their projects at www.ohiohistory.org/historyfund.

Please consider donating a portion of your tax refund to the Ohio History Connection for the History Fund when you complete your state income tax return this year. Questions about the History Fund? Visit www.ohiohistory.org/makehistory, call the Ohio History Connection’s Local History Office at 614-297-2341 or email averhoff@ohiohistory.org.
Tonia Hoffert, director of the Seneca County Museum, has been named the new curator at the Bucyrus Historical Society. She will currently be serving at both museums and is filling the shoes at Bucyrus recently vacated by co-curators Mary Ellen and Don Lust, who retired after seven years of service.

Liz Schultz, the Oberlin Heritage Center’s museum education and tour coordinator, was one of 21 participants from across the nation who attended the Developing History Leaders seminar in Indianapolis this fall. Sponsored by the American Association of State and Local History (AASLH), the National Trust for Historic Preservation, the Ohio History Connection and others, this professional development program is now in its sixth decade providing history professionals the tools, ideas, and connections that allow them to become effective leaders and managers in their field. Upon returning to Oberlin, Schultz summed up the experience as one that was both invigorating and reaffirming. “Everyone left with goals and dreams and reaffirming. “Everyone left with goals and dreams as sharing the history of the monument honors the service and sacrifice of Thomas George and his comrades in the 2nd Ohio Volunteer Infantry, from Ross Township Jefferson County, as well as sharing the history of the monument itself.

Ironton: “Mooretown Civil War Monument” honors the service and sacrifice of Thomas George and his comrades in the 2nd Ohio Volunteer Infantry, from Ross Township Jefferson County, as well as sharing the history of the monument itself.

Powell: “Depp Settlement and Lucy Depp Park” chronicles the history of the Lucy Depp subdivision, north of Columbus, from the time it was founded in the 1830s to its development as a popular getaway and vacation spot for African-Americans in Columbus in the middle decades of the 20th century.

Sugar Creek: “Giant Cuckoo Clock of Karl Schleutermann” tells the offbeat story of the world’s largest cuckoo clock, featured on the cover of the 1978 Guinness Book of World Records, and how the clock was and is used to celebrate the heritage of Sugar Creek, the “Little Switzerland of Ohio.” (Photo courtesy of www.experience-ohio-amish-country.com.)

Ohio Historical Marker Grants Help Erect 5 New Markers

At its October 2014 meeting, the Ohio Historical Markers grant committee made grants of $750 to offset the cost of erecting 5 new markers, from a field of 10 applicants. Communities receiving a grant include:

Cleveland: “Abraham Lincoln’s Funeral in Cleveland” tells the story of the assassinated president’s funeral train’s stop in Cleveland and the city’s outpouring of grief during the return of his remains to Springfield, Illinois for burial.

Dover: “Dover Light Plant / Northern Ohio Traction & Light” shares two related histories of how Dover, Ohio, like many other communities at the turn of the 20th century, harnessed the power of electricity to light the city and move its people.

To better accommodate “marker dedication season” the Ohio History Connection’s Local History Office is revising the deadline for marker applications and for the marker grant program. With the exception of the new William G. Pomeroy Foundation Grant, described elsewhere in this issue, there will be one deadline a year for applying for an Ohio Historical Marker, July 1. With the new deadline of July 1, the program will no longer accept applications on a rolling basis throughout the year.

From receipt of application to the delivery of the finished product, Ohio Historical Markers can take up to 6–9 months to produce. A new deadline of July 1 will ensure that all applicants have their markers in time for marker dedication season beginning the following spring.

The new deadline of July 1 will apply to applicants seeking marker grants as well as to those who raise funds from solely local sources to erect markers. Previously, the marker grant program had two deadlines a year, in April and October, making five grants per deadline. Beginning July 1, the markers grant program will be making 10 grants at a time.

Marker applicants, however, do not have to apply for a one of the Connection’s markers grants. Applicants who do apply but do not receive a grant may still move forward with their applications, if the program approves the historical topic for a marker.

The year 2015 will bring other changes to the Ohio Historical Markers program. The staff of the Ohio History Connection’s Local History Office is at work reworking the marker application and revising and clarifying guidelines for the program to make them easier to use.

For an application and more information, visit www.remarkableohio.org or contact Andy Verhoff, historical marker coordinator, at 614-297-2341 or averhoff@ohiohistory.org.
Ohio Museums Association Conference March 29-31

Join the Ohio Museum Association in Cleveland March 29-31 for the 2015 Conference, Relevance through Rebirth: Ohio Museums in the 21st Century. The age of digital, next-generation tech, and social sharing have forever altered the way we seek and consume information - and experiences. In this ever-changing landscape of new technology and attention-pulls, Ohio museums are experiencing a renaissance in programming, collections care, governance – and all points in-between – to keep visitors engaged all while staying true to mission. How are our museums adapting to remain not just relevant, but thriving cornerstones of our communities?

OMA 2015 is packed full of great opportunities, professional development, engaging speakers, tours, awards, networking and more! Attendees at OMA 2015 will also enjoy new experiences, alongside the great conference staples you’ve come to expect from the Ohio Museums Association, including:

- A full day of tours on Sunday to some of Cleveland’s museum gems
- The Annual Awards dinner at the beautiful Greater Cleveland Aquarium
- The OMA silent auction that boasts a wide variety of goodies you won’t be able to resist
- The Ohio EMP Gathering
- The OMA Exhibit Hall featuring regional museum service providers
- Networking with museum professionals from across the state
- Tuesday Half-Day workshops! Choose from three immersive, hands-on workshops hosted on-site at OMA member institutions in Cleveland.
- The 2015 Keynote Address by Pro Football Hall of Fame President, David Baker
- Fifteen professional development sessions and roundtables ranging in topics from across the museum discipline

AASLH Award Nominations Due March 1

Every year AASLH bestows the Leadership in History Awards in recognition of excellence in the field of state and local history. The awards were established to encourage standards of excellence in the collection, preservation, and interpretation of state and local history in order to make the past more meaningful to all Americans. By publicly recognizing superior and innovative achievements, the Leadership in History Awards serve as an inspiration to others in the field. AASLH recognizes excellence in the following areas:

- Exhibits
- Public and educational programming
- Special projects
- Publications
- Multimedia
- Individual achievement

Applicants can self-nominate or nominate another project. Nominees need not be members of AASLH to qualify and organizations of all sizes are encouraged to apply! For more information including submission guidelines, visit http://about.aaslh.org/awards.

OHRAB Grant Applications Due February 28

The Ohio Historical Records Advisory Board (OHRAB) announces the availability of grants between $500 and $2,000 to archival institutions to fund projects to preserve and/or provide access to Ohio's historical records. Proposals must be received by February 28, 2015. Awards will be announced March 23, and projects must be completed by December 31, 2015.

Eligible institutions may be public or private. Any size institution may apply, but preference will be given to institutions with permanently valuable archival materials of less than 500 cubic feet. Eligible projects include those involving physical access, arrangement, and description; preservation; and making catalog descriptions of records or digital images of records available online. Eligible expenses include supplies, storage materials, technical equipment, and contracted services. Full details of this grant opportunity and the application packet are available at OHRAB’s website http://www.ohrab.org/grants/regrant/

Funding is made available by a Federal grant opportunity from the National Historical Publications and Records Commission (NHPRC), a division of the National Archives and Records Administration (NARA). Please Note: OHRAB is awaiting formal notification from the NHPRC on the funding for the grants. While it is necessary for OHRAB to announce this grant opportunity and begin to receive your proposals, all awards are contingent on OHRAB receiving the funds from the NHPRC.
Congratulations!

William G. Pomeroy Foundation Award Winners

Thanks to the William G. Pomeroy Foundation of Syracuse, New York, the Ohio History Connection’s Local History Office now offers new grants to erect Ohio Historical Markers and Ohio Corporate Limit Markers in Erie, Huron, and Seneca Counties. The first deadline for the new program was November 12 and the Pomeroy Foundation made awards for these markers:

Bellevue (Huron): The “Tremont House” will chronicle this National Register-listed landmark in downtown Bellevue, which was built in 1846 and was home to a variety of businesses throughout its history.

Kelleys Island (Erie): A marker for the “German Reform Church/Church Parsonage” will chronicle the history of this small congregation, active from the 1860s to the early 1940s and now a part of the Kelley’s Island Historical Association.

Sandusky (Erie): The “Sandusky Library/Erie County Jail” will share the history of the city’s library and adjacent county jail. The current library was built in 1901, thanks to a grant from Andrew Carnegie, and expanded in 2004 to incorporate the jail building, made redundant by a replacement in 1990.

Tiffin (Seneca): The community of Tiffin submitted two applications and both were funded. The “Founding of Tiffin” will describe the establishment of city, named for Ohio’s first governor, Edward Tiffin. A marker to Rezin W. Shawhan will note this successful Tiffin businessman’s life and philanthropy. His former house is now the Seneca County Museum.

Ohio Historical Markers range in cost from $2,440 to $2,730, exclusive of artwork. Grants from the Pomeroy Foundation will pay up to $2,440, which is the cost for a marker of approximately 100 words. If the local sponsor of the marker wants a marker exceeding 100 words, the cost would be no more than $300, excluding the additional cost of including a photograph or other artwork on the marker. As is currently the case with the markers program, the local sponsor of the marker assumes the costs of placing the marker and maintaining it over time.

The Foundation will also fund the full cost of navy blue, Ohio-shaped Corporate Limit Marker ($2,040). Because they are intended to be read from passing vehicles entering a municipality, Ohio Corporate Limit Markers are limited to very short phases of approximately 10-15 words.

Markers funded by the William G. Pomeroy Foundation shall meet one or both of the following criteria: 1) the person, place, event, or thing commemorated must have a period of significance which falls between the years 1800 and 1900 or 2) the marker must designate properties or districts on the National Register of Historic Places. (Properties on the National Register must be owned by a government entity or a non-profit organization. Individual properties under private ownership or commercial properties are not eligible.)

The next deadlines for grants from the William G. Pomeroy Foundation are April 1 and July 1. To apply, complete the regular application for an Ohio Historical Marker, available at: www.remarkableohio.org. For more information, contact marker coordinator Andy Verhoff in Ohio History Connection’s Local History Office: 614-297-2341, averhoff@ohiohistory.org.

The Mahoning Valley Historical Society has opened a new gallery at the Tyler Mahoning Valley History Center – the Youngstown Foundation Community History Gallery. It will host temporary exhibits from community partners like other historical societies, civic organizations, artists, and collectors. The gallery’s first exhibit is An Affordable Luxury: Trumbull County Clocks. Visitors will learn the history of one of Trumbull County’s earliest industries and see examples of the craftsmanship involved in creating these pieces. For more information go to http://www.mahoninghistory.org.

Carroll, Columbiana, Harrison, Holmes, Jefferson, Stark, Tuscarawas, and Wayne Counties

The Dennison Railroad Depot Museum celebrated its first Salvation Army National Donut Day this summer. The Depot passed out almost nine dozen donuts on a street corner and had two taste-testing contests. The first contest featured celebrity judges picking which local specialty was the best. The second contest was a community-judged blind taste test of the best local donut. The day was so successful the Depot will be celebrating National Donut Day again in June 2015. The New Albany-Plain Township Historical Society’s Diary of Lucas Clark Smith, 1869-1871 is now available as a Kindle Book from Amazon. Lucas Smith was an early resident of Plain Township and kept several diaries. The book has a wealth of details about everyday rural life in Central Ohio during this period. All proceeds from the Kindle Book go directly to the society. For more information visit http://www.newalbanyplaintownshiphistoricalsociety.org/.

The Motts Military Museum has replaced all the fluorescent lighting in their museum with new energy-efficient LED lights. With the new lights the museum hopes to save a lot of money in their electrical costs. American Electric Power reimbursed the museum for a portion of the replacement costs. This fall the Meigs County Historical Society held its first genealogy fair, co-sponsored by the Meigs County Genealogy Society. Local genealogists were invited to the Meigs County Museum to spend a day working on their family histories using the society’s original records. The resources available included original marriage records, birth and death records, estate packets, wills, naturalization papers, and newspapers. The dates covered ranged from very early nineteenth century through the 1950s. For more information go to http://www.meigscohistorical.org/.

In 100 words or less, do you have outstanding news to share about your organization? Please email it to your regional representative for the next issue of The Local Historian. Contact information for the representatives in your region is on page 2 of this issue. Of course, you are welcome to forward your news directly to the editor of The Local Historian at arhmiller@ohiohistory.org. Rather than serving as a calendar of events, items for “News from the Regions” are chosen to inspire, connect, and educate the Alliance’s members all over Ohio and celebrate notable and imitation-worthy accomplishments of Alliance members.
